RE: Governor's Proposal to Eliminate $300 Million Future of Public Health (FoPH) – REJECT

Dear Senators Wiener and Menjivar and Assembly Members Gabriel and Weber,

The undersigned organizations, representing the California Can't Wait Coalition, strongly oppose the Governor's May Revision budget proposal to eliminate the $300 million ongoing General Fund Future of Public Health investment, with $200 million dedicated to local health department workforce and infrastructure and $100 million dedicated to state public health department. We additionally oppose the Administration's proposal to eliminate $52.5 million in Future of Public Health funds in the current fiscal year.

We must acknowledge the lessons learned from the COVID-19 pandemic, especially that local health departments are instrumental in protecting lives, ensuring health equity, and avoiding excess social and economic disruption. Our local health departments are the first line of defense against all public health threats and rely on a highly skilled and specialized workforce.

Even before the pandemic, public health departments faced significant workforce challenges.

Fewer than one in six graduates from schools of public health go on to work in governmental public health and nationwide, public health lost roughly 50,000 jobs after the Great Recession. The COVID-19 pandemic exacerbated these challenges as public health workers have grappled with burnout and harassment, while also being heavily recruited by other sectors.

Through the 2022 Budget Act, California took a transformational step toward improving our state and local public health departments by investing $300 million ongoing General Fund in public health workforce and infrastructure. $200 million of this investment is dedicated to local health departments, resulting in the creation of nearly 1,200 new staff positions statewide. At least 70 percent of allocations to jurisdictions must be used to support the expansion of permanent public health staff positions.

Local health departments have hired staff in areas including but not limited to chronic diseases and community health, infectious disease prevention and control, communications, emergency preparedness and response, family health, public health laboratories, and environmental health. Local health departments have hired staff based on community health needs identified through community health assessments, community health improvement plans, or department strategic plans.

Since the enactment of this investment, local health departments have made significant progress in hiring staff positions to strengthen public health capacities and capabilities. FoPH funds support the following number of staff positions by region, of which over 900 have been filled:

Region	Positions Created
Central California	210
Bay Area	212
Greater Sacramento-Sierra	137
Los Angeles	215
Rural North	67
Southern California	411
Statewide	1,253

Eliminating this funding would have serious and detrimental impacts to local health department services and operations, as well as public health professionals who have recently been hired to protect the health and safety of residents of our communities. Importantly, public health is uniquely distinct from the health care delivery system, and the health care delivery system is unlikely to be able to step into the void left by the loss of this critical public health infrastructure.

Our nation has experienced what understaffed and under-resourced local public health departments mean for community disease spread and outcomes during a pandemic, and California is no exception. California must not turn its back on our vital public health workforce as we continue to respond to existing and emerging public health threats.

It is for these reasons that our organizations respectfully urge the Legislature to reject the Governor's May Revision proposals and maintain funding Future of Public Health investments.

Respectfully,
